BIG TEN WEEK CLASS
2017

The Green Valley Recreation Camera Club is again offering their "Ten Week Photography Class". The class is designed to take participants from the absolute basics of using a digital camera to more artistic aspects of digital photography. Each session is repeated on each Wednesday at 1:30 PM, Thursday and Saturday at 9:30 AM.

Participants register for a specific day of the week and will attend sessions on that day. For example, a participant who registers for The Ten Week Class on Saturday will attend each Saturday for 10 weeks. The links below can be used to register for the class:

January Speaker

Don DuDeVoire

January 19, 2017 @ 1:30pm

Don has been taking photographs for more than sixty years, and flower photography for more than twenty-five years. A club member since 2000, he was a faculty member of the original “Ten Week Photography Course”. He has continued to teach a variety of topics ever since. He started taking flower images after seeing photographs by Canadian photographer Freeman Patterson. “After seeing his book I bought an orchid at a supermarket, stuck it in a vase, and started shooting film, and I haven’t stopped”. Don has taken flower photographs from the shores of Cape Cod to the deserts of California, and a lot of states in between. Don’s advice for getting good flower images is to never stop looking, and avoid strong winds.
